What I Learned at The ACC

I learned the importance of being kind and caring to every person I come across. Many people will be quick to forget your name but will never forget how you treated them and made them feel.

I apply all of my experience from the ACC in my work and in nursing school, it has made all the difference in my role as a CNA and a future nurse.

My Advice to The ACC

Set goals for yourself, if you are persistent then you will achieve it. Be kind and patient in everything you do. Nothing worth having is ever going to be easy but never let yourself forget why you started.

Don't lose sight of what's important or why you're doing what you're doing, you once prayed/worked hard to go to where you are: don't give up.
